

10th SEAMEO-University of Tsukuba Symposium

BIOGRAPHY

Dr Luh Anik Mayani received a doctoral degree in Linguistics from University of Cologne, Germany and is currently the Director of SEAMEO QITEP in Language (SEAQIL). She focuses on managing and developing SEAQIL's sustainability to improve the quality of language teachers and education personnel in Southeast Asia. One of her newly initiated programs in SEAQIL is School Literacy Club; a club which is designed to improve high school students' life skill through reading-writing/speaking literacy and mastering foreign language(s). This program involves teachers, literacy communities, university students and other relevant stakeholders. Above all, she is a language researcher. Some of her latest publications are a newspaper article published by Rakyat Merdeka.id in 2021 "Perempuan dan Pendefinisian KBBI" and an article "Adapting Programs to Assist Teachers and Students with the New Way of Learning" published in 2021 in Journal of Southeast Asian Education, 1, 123-130. In addition, she is the current President of Indonesian Linguistics Society.
